Writing the programs.

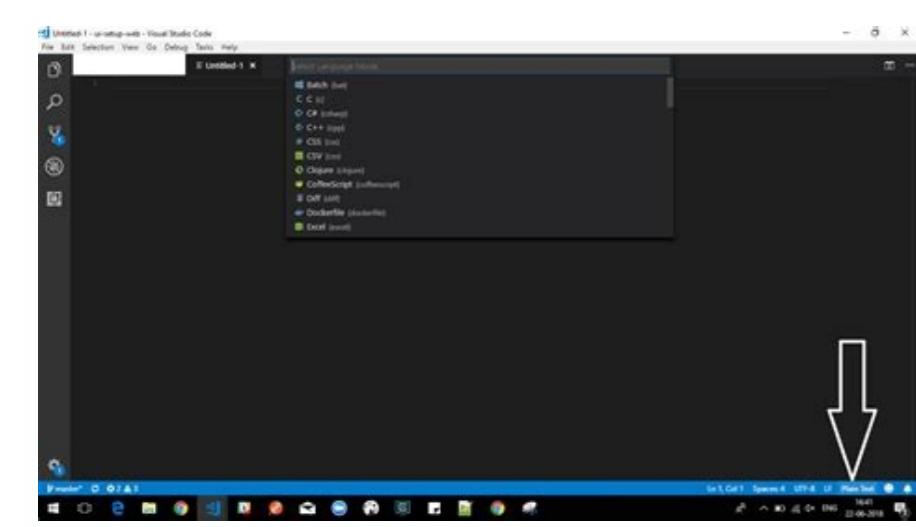

1. Write a program that asks the user to type 10 integers and writes the sum of these integers.

2. Write a program that asks the user to type 10 integers and writes the smallest value.

The screenshot shows a web-based programming interface. On the left, there is a code editor window containing the following JavaScript code:

```
1 function start(){
2     println("Hello world.");
3 }
```

On the right, there is a run console window with three tabs: "Run", "Clear", and "Console". The "Run" tab is active. Below the tabs is a large, empty rectangular area representing the output window.
